ANOTHER CRUISER WRECKED

Spanish Warship Driven Ashore During a Fierce Gale off the Cuban Coast.

Second Cruiser Lost by the Spanish Government Within a Very Short Time.

Havana, Oct. 1.—Following close upon the loss of the Spanish cruiser Barcastequi, which was sunk in collision with the Spanish merchant steamer Mortera off Moro Castle, resulting in the drowning of Admiral Delgamo Parejo, commander-in-chief of the naval forces in Cuban waters, and 46 men, comes the news of the wreck and probable total loss of the Spanish warship Christibal Colon, a second class cruiser, about 12,000 tons displacement and 16,000 horse power. The Christibal Colon formed part of the fleet of Spanish warships detailed to watch the coast of Cuba in order to prevent the landing of filibustering expeditions from the United States and elsewhere. Her crew is estimated to have numbered about 200 officers and men, but the exact figures are not known here at present, as she had on board men intended for smaller patrol vessels of the Spanish fleet, and may have detailed men ashore. The disaster occurred off Colorado Point in the Gulf of Guadiana, south of the town of Mantua, in the province of Pinar del Rio, near which Havana is situated. For some time past a cyclonic disturbance has prevailed over these latitudes and is understood to have recurred in the central part of Mexico. The Christibal Colon appears to have encountered severe weather off Cape Antonio and to have put into the Gulf of Guadiana for shelter. There she tried to ride out the fierce gale and heavy seas, but was slowly driven toward Colorado Point, off which there juts a dangerous reef known as Colorado reef. When the commander of the cruiser saw he could not make headway against the storm he attempted to anchor, according to stories told here, but the anchors would not hold and the cruiser was driven ashore.

Everything possible seems to have been done to save the cruiser, but in the heavy sea running all efforts in that direction were useless and she was finally abandoned. This morning she is a helpless wreck, pounding herself slowly to pieces on Colorado Reef. Some of the crew swam ashore, and others reached land by means of pieces of wreckage, and in boats, but all the crew, officers and men were saved. The commander of the Christibal Colon reached Mantua during the day with a majority of the crew.

When questioned regarding the disaster the Spanish captain would only say the Christibal Colon was driven ashore on Colorado Reef, owing to the violence of the cyclone and probably she will prove a total loss. Efforts, however, will be made to save her guns.

THEY CASHED THE CHECK.

Leading Business House Victimized by a Small Confidence Operator.

J. H. Todd & Co., were victimized by a smooth stranger with an innocent looking but fraudulent check yesterday. The confidence man made $30 by the operation and has not been caught. He called in early in the day and represented that he was from the Nickel Plate saloon and wanted to lay in a supply of cigars. He went about with a clerk and picked them out, selecting altogether $15 worth. He tendered in payment a check for $45 drawn by "W. C. Bryant" in favor of F. L. Kerstan" and endorsed by the latter. The check was on the Bank of British Columbia and the writing of both "Mr. Bryant" and "Mr. Kerstan" was poor enough to disarm suspicion. The check was readily cashed, the buyer receiving the difference $30 in cash. It was not until later in the day that the fraud was discovered, the bank refusing the check and the Nickel Plate Saloon people disclaiming all knowledge of the goods or the man who ordered them.

The case was placed in the hands of the police last night, but it is believed that the operator has skipped. He is described as a tall dark man with a black moustache and well on towards midle age. His clothing was also described, but a change would render detection that way impossible. The check is in the hands of the police.

FRANCE GETS SATISFACTION

Negotiations to be Resumed With the Porte Regarding Armenian Question.

Paris, Oct. 1.—It is announced that China has accorded full satisfaction to France for the recent attack made upon French missions in China.

Constantinople, Oct. 1.—It is reported in official circles here that the envoys of the three powers, Great Britian, France and Russia, will shortly receive instructions from their government to resume negotiations with the porte regarding the Armenian question.

Munich, Oct. 1.—Augburger Abend Zeitung, to-day announced that it learned on good authority that the regent of Bavaria, Prince Luitpold had declined definitely to entertain the appeal of Mr. Louis Stern, of New York, sentenced to imprisonment for two weeks and to pay a fine of 600 marks for having insulted Baron von Thuengon, deputy commissioner of Spakissingen.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND.

Dr. O'Sullivan says There is a Compact Between McCarthy and Balfour.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Dr. O'Sullivan, of Limerick, Ireland, one of the delegates to the Irish convention held in Chicago last week, is in the city. He made a most startling statement to-day to the effect that a compact had been made between Justin McCarthy and Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, by which the former promised to the government the support of his follows in return for Irish Home Rule. Dr. O'Sullivan says he had the news from McCarthy's own lips, and is only afraid that the resolutions passed at the convention may interfere with his plan.

THE GRAIN EXCHANGE.

Important Resolutions Passed at the Winnipeg Meeting Yesterday.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—At a meeting of the grain exchange yesterday the following resolutions were passed: "That the general meeting unanimously endorses the resolution passed by the council on Thursday last, that inspection fees should be reduced to 40 cents per car and that the whole fees go to inspectors, they to provide assistants, etc., out of such fees."

The exchange opposed paying inspectors by salary unless the government is prepared to assume full responsibility for inspection, including all loss arising from misgrade. At present the inspectors are under heavy bonds to make good all loss arising from misgrading.

It was further moved: "That in the opinion of this exchange the standard board as at present constituted is altogether too cumbersome and the exchange recommends to the Dominion government that the grain inspectors at Fort William and Winnipeg, and the chairman of the western board of examiners and arbitrators, be constituted a permanent board to select such standard as the department may deem necessary."

It was also moved: "That the standards as made by the last standard board, other than commercial grades—3 hard and frosted—be rejected, and that inspectors be instructed to grade according to the wording of the act; and that the recommendation be forwarded to the department of inland revenue. That regular grades of wheat from interior points, containing an admixture of scoured wheat, be binned at Fort William separate from other grain. That in the opinion of this exchange it is advisable to have official weighmen placed at Winnipeg and Emerson in connection with the inspection department, so that any person desiring a government certificate of the weight of a carload of grain going into or out of an elevator at these points, may be furnished with the same at a charge of 25 cents a car."

MAIL STEAMSHIP WRECKED

German Liner Uruguay Wrecked Near Rio de Janeiro.

London, Oct. 1.—A dispatch was received by Lloyds from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, this afternoon announcing the wreck and total loss of the German mail steamer Uruguay, 1460 tons. The Uruguay left Hamburg on August 7th for Montevideo and arrived there Sept. 3. She was on her homeward passage when she ran ashore off Cape Frio, not far from Rio de Janeiro, and all efforts to float her proved fruitless. The crew and all the passengers were rescued, but the ship and cargo could not be saved.

Twenty-seven lodges were represented. The grand secretary reported 973 members in good standing and receipts for the past year $890. The grand lodge degree was conferred on 15 members.

GIBSON TALKS AT LAST.

Pastor of Emanuel Church Discusses Deuprey's Speech in Durrant's Case.

He was Not Surprised at Deuprey's Charge Against Him—Durrant's Defence.

San Francisco, Cal. Oct. 1.—Now that Rev. Geo. Gibson, pastor of Emanuel church, has been mentioned by Attorney Deuprey in connection with the murders that made that church notorious, he has seen fit to break the silence which he has maintained ever since the discovery of the crime. Rev. Gibson when asked "What do you think of Mr. Deuprey's speech as an argument in defence of Durrant?" said, "Well, it is a mystery to me how any man could deliver such a reckless talk when he held in his hand the life or death of a fellow being." "Why did you remain silent so long?" "Because as a witness I had no right to talk, and I was willing to take my share of the newspaper criticism." "Do you think the situation changed?" "Yes, I am virtually accused of the murder. My name has been singled out among all the witnesses, and uttered in loud tones to the jury. Mr. Deuprey declared the fight on. The issue is now, according to him, between Durrant and myself. The speech gives me a right to conclude that Durrant concurs in the accusation. He, through his attorney, accuses me of having some connection with the murder of Blanche Lamont. The public must have noticed that I never accused him of such a crime." Rev. Gibson talked in a sarcastic manner about Deuprey, and when asked what he would do if arrested said, ironically, that he would send for Deuprey to defend him.

"Were you surprised at his charge against you?" "Not at all. His accusation is in harmony with all the actions of the defence from the beginning. You surely think I am very simple if you think I have been ignorant of the work going on in the underground railway." "Do you think the defence will spring a surprise?" "That is a question which I do not care to answer in public. I think I can smell a rat as well as anyone. I hope the rat, for its own sake, will chose the right moment to come out of its hole; when it appears the cat will not have a bell on its neck."

"Your handwriting is going to figure in the case?" "Yes, so Deuprey says. He knows what he is talking about. He is just as sure of my handwriting as he was of Dr. Cheney's testimony." "What is your opinion of the handling of the case?" "In these days when an analogy does duty for logic, it is positively refreshing to know of at least two lawyers intelligent enough to think people do not see the difference between bluff and fact." "Don't you think they are faithful?" "Yes, they are piling up exceptions as a means of crushing the righteousness of the case. Every technicality is a curse thrown into the face of the friend they profess to defend. No witness has done so much against Durrant as the action of his attorneys. I would rather hang than be saved by such means as Deuprey and Dickinson are employing." "What do you think of Durrant?" "Whatever peoples' opinions are, their are few but think he deserves a wealth of sympathy. He is unfortunate enough, in the hour of trouble, to have as his best friends, two men whose fame outshines their wisdom."

The defence does not seem to rely so much on an alibi now as it did a few days ago, and its efforts are now being devoted to an attempt to find flaws in the prosecution. Durrant's hopes now rest on the ability of his lawyers to so manipulate proceedings as to create a doubt in the mind of the juror as to secure a disagreement. He can build on nothing more substantial, and it seems impossible at present writing that he can expect an acquittal.

Not one of Durrant's 75 classmates will step to the front and say the accused attended Dr. Cheney's lecture of April 3. The simple fact that nobody recollects his presence is proof positive to the prosecution that he was absent. If Dickinson fails to put the students on the stand Mr. Barnes will call them in rebuttal, and although their testimony to the effect that they do not know whether or not the defendant was at the lecture will be negative in character, it will thoroughly dissipate from the minds of the jurors any impression created by the introduction of the roll call. In rebuttal the district attorney will attack the roll book, and by many witnesses show the careless way in which the record of attendance at the college is kept. It will be shown that hardly a student has not at some time or other had the roll falsified by having a classmate answer for him.

Mrs. G. Monnier, the wife of a French liquor dealer, says that on the afternoon of April 3, she saw Theodore Durrant enter Emanuel church alone. Mrs. Monnier says she was on her way to her dressmaker's that day. Investigation proves that Mrs. Monnier not only did not see Durrant enter the church, but that she never saw him until the trial commenced. It is believed that her mind is deranged.

LIFE NOT EXTINCT.

Unsuccessful Hanging of a Murdered at Pomeroy, Wash.

Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 1.—Charles Meyers has been hanged at Pomeroy for the murder of Frank Sherry. Two years ago, Meyers was convicted of setting fire to the Asotin Hotel, of Asotin City in which Sherry was burned to death. It is stated by some who witnessed the execution, that life was not entirely extinct when the body was cut down, and that if an electric battery had been applied immediately the man could have recovered, for a faint pulsation was perceptible when the body was placed in the coffin.

PATROL OF BERING SEA.

United States Dissatisfied With Great Britain's Action in the Matter.

Russia to be Asked to Assist the United States in Patrolling the Sea.

Buffalo, Sept. 30.—A Washington special to the Commercial says: It is intimated in diplomatic circles that Secretary Olney will soon, if he has not already done so, ask the co-operation of Russia in patrolling Behring sea for the preservation of Alaskan seals. This work under the arangement now in force, is performed by Great Britain acting in conjunction with the United States. During the season just passed the British Government has shown a manifest indifference to carrying out its part of the agreement. So lax have been its efforts that the Canadian seal "pirates" have pursued their vocation with little fear of molestation and have slaughtered the animals indiscriminately. Secretary Olney has not been unmindful of Great Britain's attitude, and it is not putting too fine a point on it to say that he is greatly irritated with Her Majesty's government. It is now said that Russia would have assisted in patrolling the sea when Great Britain's services were asked, if this government had made the request. The British Ambassador at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, threw all his influence against the proposition, and so, too, did Mr. Bayard, our ambassador at London when it was substantially advised by Mr. Gresham. The argument of both gentlemen was that it would be best for all concerned that England and the United States alone should be parties to the act. This was all right as long as Great Britian faithfully preformed her part of the contract. Now that she has failed to do so, Secretary Olney intends to invoke the powerful aid of Russia in keeping the sea clear of "poachers," or at least that part of the sea which it was agreed should be exempt from the rapacity of Canadians. This will be unwelcome intelligence to Great Britain, between which country and Russia a dislike more cordial and more deep seated exists than between any other two European powers. Great Britain will probably bluster and say that she will never permit sealing vessels flying the English flag to be molested by Russian cruisers. Russia, I am assured will be indifferent to British protests and will gladly assume the responsibility of overhauling the "poachers" in the sea, let the consequences be what they may. As a high official authority expressed the situation to me to-day, "England cannot afford to go to war with the United States for so trivial a matter as a few fur seals and she will certainly not dare attempt it against Russia and the United States combined."

This states the case with epigramatic force. Whatever arrangements are made between Russia and America must take the form of a convention, the ratification of which will require the sanction of the United States senate. While no one can foretell the action of this body, it is not unlikely in the present state of feeling that its assent will be given to the convention and thus open the door to complications without end.

IN A CURIOUS MESS.

The Bowell Ministry and the Snarling Factions of Which it is Made up.

Unable to do Business Because of Quarrels—John Haggart as Warwick.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Sir Mackenzie Bowell has returned to the capital from his trip to the Pacific coast, but so far no meetings of the cabinet have been called for the discussion of public business and the consideration of the political situation. This is unprecedented in the history of Canadian cabinets. It has always been the custom hitherto that when a premier was away for several weeks—in this case he has been away about two months—a meeting of the cabinet was held upon his return so that an interchange of ideas about political affairs might take place between the ministers, if there was no urgent business to transact. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was allowed to arrive in Ottawa without anyone to receive him. None of his colleagues thought it worth their while to meet him at the railway depot. Everybody expected that a meeting of the cabinet would be called next day. But no meeting took place. Instead of this Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir Hibbert Tupper left for a fishing tour in the Province of Quebec, and Messrs. Haggart and Montague for the Thousand Island group in the St. Lawrence, where the minister of railways is said to be building a beautiful summer cottage on an island which is said to be his own, but which was purchased from the government by an Ottawa lawyer, who has never used it and evidently does not intend to do so. Of course Mr. Haggart could not buy the island from the government. That would not be legal, besides it would not look well. There is another island in close proximity to the one which passes for being Haggart's, which is owned by friends of the minister. At any rate the islands are a favorite resort for Mr. Haggart.

So that instead of meeting in council, as governments always do after the summer holidays are over and they have returned to the city, they have again set out in opposite directions so as to prevent their coming together for a little while longer.

It might be said that there was nothing for them to do. But that is not the case. Why, everybody knows that public and political business is at a standstill, and this is so because the members of the government cannot meet together to discuss anything about which there could be the slightest controversy without quarrelling over it. At one time there were only two factions—the Bowell and the Haggart factions—in the ministry, but now there are three or four of them.

Instead of being a body of men whom the party generally would look up to and respect, the cabinet to-day is ridiculed by leading Conservatives as a lot of men who are not competent to run a pea-nut stand, and who have not the good taste to keep their fighting and squabbling to themselves. Their conduct is a matter of street gossip. Their actions are food for banter among hackmen and messengers. To canvass the idea of the government on any subject would be laughed at here, since it is well known that there are nearly as many factions in the ministry as there are members. Mr. Haggart has been fighting Bowell ever since the latter became premier. Those who know "John," as he is familiarly called among the very few cronies he has got, know that when he starts out on a kicking tour he never ceases until something breaks. In this case it is the whole political machine that is going to go because Premier Bowell does not seem inclined to give in, either to please Mr. Haggart or the party generally. Mr. Haggart wants his man Friday—Montague—to get the premiership. Times readers who knew the doctor when he was on the Pacific coast will scarcely believe this, but it is nevertheless true. Mr. Haggart is booming the doctor every chance he gets, and at present has him on as a leading card at the different fall fairs throughout the province. If Dr. Montague don't get the premiership then Mr. Haggart may be persuaded to take Mr. Foster on trial, but he will not have Tupper on any account. Sir Hibbert has got but few friends in the government. He is trying to make himself popular with the French ministers, where Montague has got no friends, and the minister of justice is partly succeeding. So far they have stood by Bowell.

So that there are three applicants for the premiership, Foster, Montague and Tupper. Although Mr. Foster has got no following in the government, or out of it, he will stand the best chance of the position.

If Sir John Macdonald could get a glimpse of the party as it now stands what would he think of it? Montague, Foster and Tupper the younger, all struggling for the position which he so long filled at the head of the great Conservative party. It is no wonder that they should be trying all kinds of schemes to keep their positions and draw their salaries as long as they can, for once the people get an opportunity to express their opinion about them it will be so emphatic that there will be no mistaking it.

There is at present public business pigeon-holed for years past and political and public appointments waiting to be filled and about which the government cannot even meet and discuss the questions involved without fighting over them. Talk about the Manitoba school case. The government might be troubled over this matter, but they have not touched the subject since the passing of the second order. They have in fact done nothing since parliament rose, and are not likely to do very much before it meets again. SLABTOWN.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Ald. Partridge Charges Favoritism in Giving Work on the Sewers.

There was another rather stormy meeting of the city council last evening although a considerable amount of business was disposed of. Ald. Partridge charged that there had been the rankest favoritism shown North Ward in the employment of labor on sewerage work and that provoked the sharpest rally. Ald. Bragg paid his respects to Ald. Macmillan too, and Ald. Humphrey to Ald. Wilson. It was a long drawn out talkative session with a full board present.

Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, acting upon behalf of Hon. Dr. J. S. Helmcken, wrote asking for an interview in the matter of improving Belleville street which it was claimed would shut him out from access to his property.

Ald. Cameron said that one trustee of the estate wanted the improvement and another did not. It was merely a question of whether the sidewalk should be placed on the low or high grade. He thought perhaps that it would be better to put it on the low grade.

Ald. Humphrey said the committee had proceeded on information from D. Harris.

The matter was referred to the street committee, to be arranged in some suitable way.

Lt.-Col. Rawstorne wrote saying that he had interviewed Rear Admiral Stephenson on the removal of the powder from the Beacon Hill park, but had been told that there was no room for it on Magazine Island. He was told that Rear Admiral Stephenson recommended that it be removed to the magazine at the barracks, providing the city repair the stage leading to it. He was of the opinion that it would be no good, as it was merely removing it from one part of the city to another. He believed the city should approach the Imperial government through the Lieutenant-Governor and Dominion government.

Beaver Lake, Sept. 25, 1895.

Sir: I beg to call your attention to the desirability of taking some action in regard to the improvement of the basin lying between the main dam of the new waterworks and the cofferdam for same.

My ideas about this matter have always been to improve the cofferdam to a state of permanency, cutting an opening in the centre for admission of the water, and place in this opening a system of sluices and screens to catch the debris; and further to remove the mud from the basin between the main dam and the cofferdam so as to form a settling basin from which the water, greatly improved in purity, might enter the filter beds. As you are aware, this work is not included in the water works contract now in progress.

If, however, steps as above outlined to the same effect, are not taken, the removal of the cofferdam, or part of it, will be necessary upon the completion of the work.

While laying this matter before you I beg to mention that if an improvement as suggested above should be decided on, it will be much easier to build the opening in the cofferdam in the near future, before the water commences to rise, than at a later period, avoiding, of course, to open the cofferdam until the main dam is up in case any accident should happen.

I respectfully yours, G. E. JORGENSEN.

Beaver Lake, Sept. 25, 1895.

Sir: I beg to ask your permission to substitute with concrete the brickwork covering in the construction of the new waterworks. According to the specification, brickwork is required in the centre walls and culverts of the filter beds and in the walls of the different chambers.

The shape of the ducts and culverts laid in concrete requires rather intricate forms or moulds, a fact which led me to decide on brickwork when making the specifications. As regards strength and permanency concrete, when well made and deposited, is fully equal to brick, and is superior if the brick is not a first-class hard burned article.

The contractors see no difficulty in making the above mentioned forms, and will substitute concrete for the same price as brick, thereby completing the entire construction in concrete.

I have the honor to submit this for your consideration. Most respectfully yours,

G. E. JORGENSEN,
Engineer in Charge.

They were referred to a committee consisting of the water committee and commissioner, to report.

Ald. Partridge wanted the matter referred to the city auditor to be gone over.

Ald. Humprey was opposed to this. The council had promised a donation and should give it or refuse to, and thought the suggestion rather a reflection.

Ald. Partridge said that he meant no reflection. He merely wanted a concise statement such as book-keepers would give. He believed the report was designed to prove horse racing a good thing. He did not imply dishonesty at all.

Ald. McLellan said that the council should not look for any better report. It was highly satisfactory as he said. The directors were a lot of prominent citizens of the highest honor, who were doing a lot of free work.

Ald. Partridge said that he was understood. He merely wanted a statement just as it would come from an auditor, and he did not want the council to be asked to endorse the horse racing feature as successful.

Ald. Wilson seconded the motion and it was carried.

Mrs. Hickey wrote asking assistance for the Maternity Home, saying that there were three very deserving cases requiring care. Referred to the finance committee. Mayor Teague said that charity funds already voted were very low.

T. Lawrie wrote complaining of a nuisance on Springfield street. Referred to the street committee.

Wm. Thompson of South Saanich wrote asking to have John Hemming admitted to the Old Men's Home. Referred to the Home committee.

W. J. Taylor wrote saying that the corporation had no right to interfere with Thomas Storey in his proposed action with regard to the Renwick monument. Received and filed.

James L. Raymur wrote recommending that Mr. Steinburger be paid $700 on account of his claim at Beaver lake, and that the balance be paid later on.

Ald. Williams was opposed to the payment of that amount or any other, Mr. Steinburger was previously paid too much. He was paid for some old buildings not yet destroyed. The speaker was of opinion that the purchase of land was all unnecessary. They might raise the dam, but need not raise the water in the lake.

Mayor Teague said that part of the buildings in question were destroyed and part were left by permission of the council. He believed Mr. Steinburger an abused man.

Ald. Humphrey said Mr. Steinburger was entitled to pay for land already under water, but he objected to paying anything at all before they knew the total of what would have to be paid.

Ald. Macmillan said that the water in the lake would have to be raised to get the necessary pressure.

Ald. Williams admitted the last made assertion, but said he did not believe it should be done speedily. They should secure land before they flooded it.

Ald. Cameron and McLellan wanted to have the fullest information, and to proceed in the ordinary way.

Ald. Macmillan said that a special engineer had been engaged for the running of the lines on the land in question, and he expressed the opinion that one of the three engineers permanently employed should have done the work.

The matter was referred to the water committee and commissioner.

The following statement of finances in connection with the exhibition was forwarded by the honorary secretary:

Victoria, Sept. 25, 1895.

W. J. Dowler, City Clerk:

Sir: Agreeably to yours of the 24th, I enclose a statement of receipts and expenditures of the last exhibition. The amounts may vary a little on final adjustment. I believe the whole of the accounts are in. From this you will find that the gross expenditure was $6,889.29, and the actual receipts $5,848.85; adding city grant $800, and estimated collections, $78, will make $6,726.85, leaving an estimated loss of $172.44. I beg to point out to your attention that there is a shrinkage this year of nearly $500 in gate receipts, owing to the pouring rain on Thursday and the cold fog on Saturday. Had it not been for this the exhibition would have a credit balance this year. I remain, dear sir, yours faithfully,

C. E. RENOUF,
Hon. Secretary.

The street committee will report on the matter.

J. T. Higgins and three others asked that a florist be appointed on the staff of the Agricultural Society.

Ald. Macmillan thought the matter worthy of consideration. He took the opportunity to compliment the directors on their recent display.

The letter was tabled to be called up at the time the board is named.

Ald. Macmillan asked for information as to the progress of payments to Walkely, King & Casey.

Mayor Teague said that one payment had been made by the water commissioner but he had requested the commissioner to lay these matters before the council in future, and it would be done.

The library committee reported on the recent additions to the library, and recomended the preparation of a catalogue.

City Engineer Wilmot wrote in re the Kent complaint that no permission to connect with the sewer had been refused where the provisions of the by-law had been carred out. Received and filed.

Supt. Hutchinson reported the breaking down of the dnamo supplying the Cadboro Bay road line, that part of the lights were switched off, but that repairs were about completed. He asked for six dozen globs, and also for a telephone at his house.

Ald. Bragg said that the break brought out the need of spare armature. He moved that the purchasing agent advertise for tenders for the globes, and it was agreed to. So was the telephone matter on the recommendation of Ald. Wilson.

Ald. Humphrey and Macmillan thought most of the road was outside of Ald. Cameron thought the publication of a full catalogue rather a large task.

Ald. Partridge said that it was only proposed to use a limited one. The alderman expressed his regret at their inability to get fifteen years' files of the London News, kindly donated by Thomas Moffat.

Ald. Macmillan agreed with Ald. Partridge, and said that he believed they should first do some cataloguing before binding was empted.

The claims of favoritism were made during the scussion of the report of the sewage committee's on the charge made by City Treasurer Kent against City Engineer Wilmot that he had been reed permission to connect with the sewer on Yates street, while others had been permitted to do so. The report went to the subject exhaustively and exonited the city engineer. Among the statements made in the report was that Foreman McDonald had permitted Mr. Maynard to put in a few feet of pipe, but at no expense to city. That was the statement to which Ald. Partridge excepted, as he said was a covert attack on him, and an untrue one to Mr. McDonald, as he had ordered the work done himself. At no expense to the city he had saved a ratepayer a considerable expenditure. He said it was very strange the way a certain ward member had manipulated the sewerage work to insure his political success in the future. The rank favoritism had been shown in the employment of labor, and centre ward had been discriminated against. Mr. Stewart had been given $22 worth of teaming while $400 was paid to a north ward man. Of the workers 16 were from the 28 from south and 82 from north ward. There were 10 teamsters from north ward and 3 from centre. A man named Martin had been laid off and a north ward resident given his place. The speaker also quoted a list of names of employes with the amount they had received, to show that north ward got the most money. He had charges to make, but the facts were not open to judgment.

Ald. Macmillan after saying that Ald. Partridge should have made his charges openly said that he was surprised at him as he had been to committee meetings and other sessions where these matters had been discussed, but had said nothing. Mr. McDonald was not to blame in the report, but mere mention was made of what he had done. Ald. Partridge had not consulted the chairman to what he was going to do in every matter when he did it, yet he (Ald. Macmillan) had never said a word about it. He denied that there had been any favoritism, and said the charge was a foul and damnable slander. The speaker pointed out that there were more industrial workers in the north ward, but denied even knowing of the men named by the alderman. He had merely told the foreman to employ residents and give preference to married men. He closed by saying that he was not ashamed of his record and would defend it at any time.

Ald. Partridge demanded that his name be put in the report in place of Foreman McDonald. If there was any responsibility it was his.

Ald. Bragg poured out a little oil on the troubled waters and strongly deprecated squabbling and friction.

Ald. Humphrey and Macmillan denied that there was any blame on anyone.

Ald. Partridge renewed his demand, however, and amid laughter his name was substituted and the report adopted.

The sewerage committee recommended that the cost of branch sewers built out of the loan of 1894 be taxed against the property benefited, and that on Government street, where the sewer is not in the middle of the street, that the cost be borne proportionately. Received and adopted. The same committee recommended that the following sewers be constructed at the estimated cost given after each: Johnson street, from Blanchard to Quadra streets, $1250; Blanchard street, north from the present terminus, $282; Cormorant street, from Douglas to Blanchard streets, $890; Blanchard street, from Fort to Kane streets, and Kane street, from Blanchard to Quadra streets, $1242. The work is also to be done by day labor. The report was received and adopted.

The water committee recommended that Walkely, King & Casey be refused permission to fill the old filter bed, as it would cost several hundred dollars to remove pipes and fittings, and the city would possibly want to use it later on for the same purpose. Received and adopted.

Ald. Macmillan's motion to secure permission from the property owners to put in the surface drain through the Johnson street ravine provoked another squabble. Ald. Macmillan explained that it was a matter of formality as it would be necessary to have it, in carrying out the general plan. Ald. Bragg was up with an objection to the effect that it was proposed to use Board of Health funds to build a sewer, and he could not see how they were to be converted.

Ald. Macmillan said that the city solicitor told him it was perfectly legal, as it was abating a nuisance.

Ald. Bragg said he and the rest of the council did not know that, and wanted to know what special rights to legal advice Ald. Macmillan had anyhow.

The matter was finally voted on and carried. The Mayor was further instructed to look after the preparation of some blank forms.

The tabled fire wardens' report was called up, and the Oaklands fire hall matter further delayed to give Ald. McLellan time to examine into it. In the matter of the objectionable sidewalk in front of the Deluge hall, upon which it is claimed the horses slip and are made to balk, Ald. Humphrey said it was throwing away $40 and tearing up the best piece of sidewalk in the city.

Ald. Wilson said that there was no danger of horses slipping on the rock Ald. Humphrey was putting down on Belleville street.

Ald. Humphrey replied that if Ald. Wilson's head was as hard as that rock he would be lucky.

The council finally voted to replace the sidewalk with wooden blocks.

But the Times has other and stronger claims. Its charges have always been moderate, and its constituency embraces all classes of the community. In fact there is no person in the city who is any person who does not read the Times.

Change of reading matter in standing advertisements must be received at the office before 11 a.m. of the day that the change is to be made. If not so received the change may not be made until the following day.

THEIR PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Laurier has taken the trouble to deny that in one of his speeches he used the expression attributed to him: "Thank God, there is not an Orangeman among us Liberals." If Mr. Laurier undertakes to correct all the misrepresentations to which the Conservative papers treat him he will have his hands full of such work from now until the elections are held. He is fortunately under no necessity to do so, for the people have come to know him too well to be deceived by false reports of his utterances. They also know and appreciate the plan of campaign adopted against him, part of which is to represent him as speaking differently in the different provinces. It is peculiarly easy to carry out such a plan in Mr. Laurier's case, since he naturally uses the French language when addressing French Canadian audiences and the English language elsewhere. He may frequently be the victim of unintentional misreporting or mistranslation in such circumstances. But there is no prospect of his being injured by either accidental or malicious misrepresentation, any more than by the foolish endeavor to create the false impression that the Liberals are dissatisfied with his leadership. The puny tactics of his political enemies can have no other result than to show how much they fear his strength and how clearly they perceive his good prospect of success.

THE OTTAWA PROGRAMME.

The sudden return to Ottawa of all the junketing ministers and the resumption of cabinet sessions have started a round of speculation regarding the programme the government is likely to follow. The question of whether a session of parliament is going to be held before dissolution is eagerly discussed, with a variety of opinion. French Canadian Liberal papers have for some time been declaring that no session is to be held before the general election, professing to base their assertions on word received privately from Ottawa. As the Montreal Witness points out, these Quebec Liberal papers have of late received some very acurate information from the capital in regard to various matters, notably in regard to the second order-in-council on the Manitoba school question, and there would be nothing surprising in their having received the "correct tip" on the election business. The Montreal Gazette on the other hand, comes forward with a very straight assertion that a session will first be held. "An appeal to the electorate cannot now be long delayed in any event, since the present House of Commons will expire by efflux of time some eight months hence, but there is no reason to apprehend an election before another session. The Premier and the leader of the House have made a distinct pledge that a session of the present parliament will be called not later than the first Thursday in January next, and the Governor-General, Lord Aberdeen, is a party to that pledge, which could be given only with his consent and approval. Nothing has transpired in public affairs since parliament was prorogued last July to warrant a change of policy." Certainly if there is any strength in government pledges the Gazette's view of the situation must be right. Nothing has occurred so far to alter the conditions under which the extra session was promised, and there is a very poor prospect of the Manitoba government taking such steps as the ministers said would be necessary to obviate action on the part of the Dominion authority. Altogether there are good grounds for supposing that the extra session will be held, and that the general election will come on as soon thereafter as possible.

THE POWDER MAGAZINE.

The powder magazine in Beacon Hill park has once more engaged the attention of the city council. Just when this menace to the lives of our citizens was first brought to the notice of the Dominion and Imperial authorities it would be difficult to say, but it was certainly years ago. The grievance is one of many of a minor character that have been annually protested against by the city council, but protested against in vain. The unsightly building, full of powder, is still in evidence—a memorial to the callous indifference of the authorities to the oft-expressed demands of the people of Victoria. But it now appears from the letter of Lieut.-Col. Rawstorne, R. M. A., that the powder in the magazine is of "no great value in these days," and that officer advises that the Dominion and Imperial authorities be requested to permit the city to have it destroyed. If the powder is useless to either government there can be no objection to its destruction; while if it is suffered to remain in the park, the responsibility will be all the greater, in the event of an explosion, because of its worthlessness.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE.

The case of Wong Si Quong, the celestial who was ordered deported by the United States authorities, but released from the steamship Tacoma by a little Oriental strategy, was finally dropped in the city police court this morning. The information charging Quong with theft was sworn to by one Lim Yem, but when the case was called the latter failed to turn up. After several adjournments to secure his attendance Magistrate Macrae became convinced that it was merely an attempt to use his court to defeat the ends of justice exercised by a friendly power, and ordered a warrant to secure Yem's appearance. When things got tropical for Yem he concluded that it would be a good plan to visit some up country cousins, and got out. Every effort possible was made to serve the paper on Yem, but he succeeded in eluding the officers of the law.

When the case was called in police court to-day Magistrate Macrae said that he was powerless to do anything, and much though it was to be regretted, the case would have to be withdrawn. He made an order to the effect and the bondsmen who went good for Quong's appearance were at the same time released from any responsibility.

WORK FOR THE EXPLORER.

Says Prof. I Logan Tobley, in an address before the London Geographical Congress: "Leaving out of account the very imperfectly known regions of Central Asia and the interior of the northern parts of both North and South America, as well as the similar areas of both Africa and Australia, there is an aggregate area of about twenty millions of square miles of the surface of the globe as yet unexplored. This aggregate is made up as follows:

	Square miles.
Africa	6,500,000
Australia	2,250,000
North America	1,500,000
South America	500,000
Asia	250,000
Islands	500,000
Arctic Regions	3,500,000
Antarctic Regions	5,000,000
Total	20,000,000

"When we add to this great total not merely the enormous areas of only partially explored regions, but also those that though explored are not yet accurately surveyed, it will be seen that the field for further geographical exploration and research is abundantly wide."

A WONDERFUL MEMORY.

Remarkable Case of a Blind Man's Retentive Power.

A correspondent of the Scientific American tells of a remarkable case of the development of the memory in a blind person. Professor John A. Simpson, of Raleigh, director of music in the North Carolina institution for the education of the blind, though blind from childhood, is one of the best educated men in the state. He is a graduate of the institution he now serves, as also of Trinity College, North Carolina, from which he received regularly the degrees of A. B. and A. M., notwithstanding that there were at that time, some twenty-five or more years ago, no embossed text books of any value; and hence he was compelled to have the proscribed course of studies read to him or to study the books laboriously by the use of an embossed alphabet. His studies there and since were of necessity largely carried on without the help of teachers and he was thus forced to compare one authority with another and otherwise test his own work at every step.

In this thorough manner he has gone over the whole field of pure mathematics, from algebra to quarternoins, omitting nothing and working every problem mentally.

In the same way he has mastered several ancient and modern languages, and has by his own work accumulated a very valuable manuscript in Latin, Greek, French German, Italian, Spanish. His life has been devoted mainly, however, to music; his task being to train his blind pupils to become teachers of the sighted, and in this he has been eminently successful.

As pianist of a local philarmonic society he has accompanied entire cantatas, masses and oratorios without error and with finished precision. Once, when a schoolboy he multiplied mentally, without the aid of any apparatus whatever, a number consisting of twenty figures with another number equally large. At another time he committed to memory the whole of Milton's "Paradise Lost." He has frequently read very difficult pieces of music while sitting at the fireside and then gone to the piano and performed them without leaving out a note. He can readily detect, locate and rectify any ordinary defect in a pipe organ; take the largest and most complicated of them to pieces, spair their most delicate parts, tune tem to exactness; and he is frequently cited upon to do such work in the city.

—The old building adjoining the former city electric light station on Yates street is being torn down. This building was erected many years ago by John Buckley, father of the well known actor, E. J. As the evening's entertainment will be free, no doubt there will be a crowded house.

—H. M. S. Pheasant returned yesterday from Behring sea, where she has been doing patrol duty since April. Commander Garforth has nothing new to report. He made no seizures, as no sealers were found acting contrary to the regulations. The Pheasant left Ounalaska on Sept. 11th and passed two sealers, one of them the Enterprise, on the way down. Commander Garforth is not at all sure that the hole in the skin taken from the Marvin was made by a bullet, as claimed by Capt. Hooper, of the Rush. When the Marvin's ammunition was counted it was found that she had more than she had when she left Atu.

Jos. W. Ackerman, of No. 9 Princess avenue, formerly a hunter on the sealer Viva, accidentally shot himself while out shooting, in Lake district this morning. He placed the muzzle of his gun on his left foot and by some means the gun was discharged. The charge tore off parts of the toes, and an amputation will in all probability be necessary. Officer McKenna, who happened to be in the vicinity, secured a conveyance and took Mr. Ackerman to the Jubilee hospital, where he is being cared for. This is Ackerman's second gunning accident, he having formerly been injured by the premature discharge of a gun on a schooner. The woods were full of hunters to-day and no doubt the late arrivals in town will have more accidents to report.

—Two men, whose names were not ascertained, and who left for San Francisco last night on the steamship City of Puebla, complained to the city police yesterday that they had been robbed by card sharps on the steamer Charmer coming from Vancouver Sunday evening. It appears they were asked in the usual way to play whist by strangers, did so and then got betting on their hands. They lost $50 in cash and then put up $50 worth of jewellery for more money and lost that. Both had been drinking and are sure the cards were stacked on them. Acting chief Walker referred them to the provincial police, but it seems that neither of them turned up there. They went to San Francisco last night, and nothing can be done, but the police have a very fair idea who did the work and could not only arrest the men but recover part of the jewellery.

—F. S. Barnard, M. P., who returned from London on Sunday, succeeded in obtaining capital to the extent of $500,000 for the purpose of developing the water power of Seymour creek and thereby generating electricity for electric lighting and electric railways in Vancouver, New Westminster and vicinity. He also succeeded in forming a syndicate, comprising the leading banking and financial houses of London, Paris, Berlin, Amsterdam, Glasgow and Manchester for the purpose of exploiting and developing the gold fields of British Columbia. The syndicate will back the company to the extent of £300,000, of which amount about £232,500 is available for investment here. The company will exploit and develop mines, and when justified place them on the European markets, thus being the means of interesting a large amount of capital in the mines of the province. Mr. Barnard was accompanied from England by Mr. Cecil Slade, a large shareholder in the company. They left this morning for Kootenay.

—Col. E. P. Leach, V. C., C. B., of Halifax, commanding Royal Engineers in the Dominion, is here on inspection duty relating to the Esquimalt defense works. Col. Leach served in the Looshai expedition of 1871-2, receiving the thanks of the government of India and the medal with clasps. He took part in the Afghan war in 1878 -80, and was several times mentioned in dispatches to the London Gazette. He again received the thanks of the government of India and the Afghanistan medal with clasps. At the close of the war he was promoted to be brevet major and lieut.-colonel, and was awarded the Victoria Cross. During the Soudan expedition of 1885, he was again mentioned in dispatches, received the medal with the two clasps and the bronze star and was appointed a companion of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath. Since Mar. 2, 1885, he has held the rank of Colonel and served as Colonel on the staff in Egypt. He is now second in command of the Imperial forces in Canada.

THE TAX SALE.

About Half the Owners Had Previously Redeemed Their Property.

The sale of land for delinquent taxes of 1892 took place this morning at the council chamber, city hall, commencing at 11 o'clock. City Treasurer Kent made an excellent auctioneer, and for the nonce City Assessor Northcott and Deputy Treasurer Smith forgot their official titles and sat as attentive auctioneer's clerks. The trio recommended their wares in a persuasive way and did a thriving trade. Only about one-half of the property described in the notice of the sale was put up, as the delinquent owners had come forward and redeemed the rest at the 11th hour. Among the more active of the buyers were Percy Brown, of the B. C. L. & I. Co., Henry Nathan, John Kinsman, Joshua Holland, D. R. Harris, Thornton Fell and Mr. Dean. It was said that some of the buyers were either the mortgagees or their representatives and were thus securing a double interest. There was quite active interest for some of the parcels of land, and they were bid down to quite small fractions. Every piece put up was bought in, so with redemptions the city is square on account of 1892 taxes.

It will very likely be a month before the sale is confirmed by the supreme court, and the owners will then have a year in which to redeem their property.

HARASSING THE SEALERS.

Captain Gould Objects to Being Overhauled on the High Seas.

Captain Gould, of the sealing schooner Katherine, does not feel very kindly toward the American cutters which formed the United States Behring Sea patrol. He was boarded twice in the sea, once by the Rush, Captain Hooper, and once by the Grant, Captain Tozier, and his vessel was overhauled from stem to stern. The sealskins were taken out of the salt and tossed around and everything turned topsy turvy. Speaking about it this morning he said: "I do not feel at all kindly toward the cutters, for I consider they put me to a lot of unnecessary trouble. Of course, I suppose, the officers were merely following the orders given them from Washington. I objected primarily to being overhauled on the high seas and held up and searched without reason or provocation. After the Rush and Grant had boarded me I about made up my mind to put everything under lock and key and let them break the locks and doors if they wanted to examine what I had aboard. I was not called upon by any of them after that, but if I had been I guess they would have broken into any part of my vessel had I used locks. I believe I have a perfect right to except to the treatment of my vessel and skins by the cutters, and regard this practice of overhauling and searching British vessels on the high seas without any reason whatever, as an outrage."

Notes of the Excursion to Hawaii, by Miss Cameron.

THE HONOLULU MARKET.

We took the train from Waianae in time to see the Honolulu market at its best, on Saturday afternoon. An interesting walk lay between the station and the market. As we slowly made our way through the clamoring crowds on the sidewalks and crossings we were more than ever impressed with the cosmopolitan nature of Honolulu's population. This was not the fashionable quarter of the city; the stores were small, in fact too small to hold the merchandise which, overflowing, in many cases covered the sidewalks, so causing the foot passengers to walk on the street. Those little shops looked like packing cases with one end knocked out; the whole front lay open to the roadside and there were neither windows nor doors. Chinese, Japs, Portuguese, Hawaiians, and men whom it would take a Blumenbach to classify, preside over these little stores, and sell everything from dry goods to dried fish. It was our first walk through this quarter and we would have liked to linger here but our guide hurried us on to the market, which is one of "the" sights of Honolulu.

The market occupies three sides of a hollow square, the fourth side being the street. Long before we saw the place we heard the loud voices of the people eagerly soliciting patronage, and crying out the virtues of their wares. It seemed as if half a hundred auctioneers were undergoing a competitive open air tournament, or trial of vocal endurance. The excitement was catching, and we hastened on, and were soon part and parcel of the busy, gesticulating and jostling crowd. The market touches the sea on one side, and nearly everything exhibited for sale has been brought here by fishermen. After getting accustomed to the noise we began to take in the busy scene. It is Saturday night and things are selling at a sacrifice. The stall owners have their fish laid out in neat rows. A large pile of the leaves of the Ti tree stand close at hand and these take the place of wrapping paper. If we merely let our eyes rest one minute on a queer fish, the energetic salesman grabs it up deftly rolls the Ti leaf round it, and twising the stem through the bundle holds the whole entreatingly out to us, and mentioning the price All the money received that day is ostentatiously laid out in a plate in each little section. The fish were a wonderful sight. Enthusiastic fishermen in B. C. rave over the bright tints of a mountain trout, calling them "speckled beauties." Here we saw crimson, blue, opaline, green and rose-colored beauties, still quivering with life, instinct with the glories of the coral groves they had so lately quitted. I had never dreamed that fish could be so beautiful. The king of these waters is the mullet, whose acquaintance (boiled), we had made the day of our arrival. One variety of mullet, the hinalea is a very kaleidoscope of color. The tip of his tail is orange-color, the tail itself is splashed with blue, his body is a royal purple, while bands of bright green traverse his head. You feel when discussing him that the waiter has somehow made a mistake and served you with a fried rainbow.

Another fish seemed to be in half-mourning, he was striped black and white (the manini, I think). A more sportive fellow, the sea cock, or kihi-kihi, lay alongside, he rejoiced in a covering like a football jersey, bands of yellow and black marking him from head to tail. We were surprised to find the fish so dear; most of it sold for ten or fifteen cents a pound. But many other sea dainties were for sale, limpets, (opihi), oysters, great living lobsters and the familiar sea egg (wana), with baked sea weed put up in one pound packages, and last but once-seen-never-forgotten dishes of a raw liver-looking compound plentifully garnished with coagulated blood. That evening, after dinner we heard the native band play in Emma Square and afterwards went through the more fashionable part of the town, which did not interest us one-tenth as much as the busy Babel of the afternoon. I couldn't help wondering how long one could live in the warm, lazy surroundings of Honolulu and keep even a tithe of one's natural energy. The indolent air of the natives was nowhere more apparent than in the open square while the band played. The air was heavy with the odors of trumpet flowers, great white lilies, oleanders, gardenia and tube-roses. On all sides the eye wandered over a perfect riot of color—deep red hibiscus, purple passion flowers and large yellow waxy blooms in a setting of living green. The natives lay stretched on the ground, their senses of smell, vision and hearing fed to the uttermost. But the musicians with their soft, weird, notes were the magicians of the hour We all thought of the lotus eaters.

"In the afternoon they came unto a land,
In which it seemed always afternoon;
A land where all things always seemed the same!
There is sweet music here that softer falls
Than pearls from blown roses on the grass,
Or night-dews on still waters between walls
Of shadowy granite, in a gleaming pass;
Music that gentler on the spirit lies,
Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes."

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS.

A short meeting of the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital was held last evening, President Davies in the chair. The committee of the month reported the general state of the hospital as being satisfactory, and made a number of recommendations, including one that fire escapes be put in position as soon as possible and that double windows be placed in the surgical department. The committee for October will attend to these matters.

The special committee appointed for the purpose reported that arrangements had been made with the authorities of the Maternity Home, whereby nurses so desiring may have a month's training at the home at a fee of $25. Miss Ethel M. Ferris will to-day present herself for a month's training. The medical council will be asked for advice as to how many cases a nurse should attend before passing an examination for a diploma.

The following motion moved by Mr. A. Wilson and seconded by Mr. Crimp, was carried unanimously:

"That this board hereby expresses its sincere sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayward in the severe loss sustained by them in the death of their son, and request the secretary to convey the same to them."

Nose But Ayer's at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

IN LAVA LANDS.

Notes of the Excursion to Hawaii, by Miss Cameron.

THE HONOLULU MARKET.

We took the train from Waianae in time to see the Honolulu market at its best, on Saturday afternoon. An interesting walk lay between the station and the market. As we slowly made our way through the clamoring crowds on the sidewalks and crossings we were more than ever impressed with the cosmopolitan nature of Honolulu's population. This was not the fashionable quarter of the city; the stores were small, in fact too small to hold the merchandise which, overflowing, in many cases covered the sidewalks, so causing the foot passengers to walk on the street. Those little shops looked like packing cases with one end knocked out; the whole front lay open to the roadside and there were neither windows nor doors. Chinese, Japs, Portuguese, Hawaiians, and men whom it would take a Blumenbach to classify, preside over these little stores, and sell everything from dry goods to dried fish. It was our first walk through this quarter and we would have liked to linger here, but our guide hurried us on to the market, which is one of "the" sights of Honolulu.

The market occupies three sides of a hollow square, the fourth side being the street. Long before we saw the place we heard the loud voices of the people eagerly soliciting patronage, and crying out the virtues of their wares. It seemed as if half a hundred auctioneers were undergoing a competitive open air tournament, or trial of vocal endurance. The excitement was catching, and we hastened on, and were soon part and parcel of the busy, gesticulating and jostling crowd. The market touches the sea on one side, and nearly everything exhibited for sale has been brought here by fishermen. After getting accustomed to the noise we began to take in the busy scene. It is Saturday night and things are selling at a sacrifice. The stall owners have their fish laid out in neat rows. A large pile of the leaves of the Ti tree stand close at hand and these take the place of wrapping paper. If we merely let our eyes rest one minute on a queer fish, the energetic salesman grabs it up deftly rolls the Ti leaf round it, and twising the stem through the bundle holds the whole entreatingly out to us, and mentioning the price All the money received that day is ostentatiously laid out in a plate in each little section. The fish were a wonderful sight. Enthusiastic fishermen in B. C. rave over the bright tints of a mountain trout, calling them "speckled beauties." Here we saw crimson, blue, opaline, green and rose-colored beauties, still quivering with life, instinct with the glories of the coral groves they had so lately quitted. I had never dreamed that fish could be so beautiful. The king of these waters is the mullet, whose acquaintance (boiled), we had made the day of our arrival. One variety of mullet, the hinalea is a very kaleidoscope of color. The tip of his tail is orange-color, the tail itself is splashed with blue, his body is a royal purple, while bands of bright green traverse his head. You feel when discussing him that the waiter has somehow made a mistake and served you with a fried rainbow.

Another fish seemed to be in half-mourning, he was striped black and white (the manini, I think). A more sportive fellow, the sea cock, or kihi-kihi, lay alongside, he rejoiced in a covering like a football jersey, bands of yellow and black marking him from head to tail. We were surprised to find the fish so dear; most of it sold for ten or fifteen cents a pound. But many other sea dainties were for sale, limpets, (opihi), oysters, great living lobsters and the familiar sea egg (wana), with baked sea weed put up in one pound packages, and last but once-seen-never-forgotten dishes of a raw liver-looking compound plentifully garnished with coagulated blood. That evening, after dinner we heard the native band play in Emma Square and afterwards went through the more fashionable part of the town, which did not interest us one-tenth as much as the busy Babel of the afternoon. I couldn't help wondering how long one could live in the warm, lazy surroundings of Honolulu and keep even a tithe of one's natural energy. The indolent air of the natives was nowhere more apparent than in the open square while the band played. The air was heavy with the odors of trumpet flowers, great white lilies, oleanders, gardenia and tube-roses. On all sides the eye wandered over a perfect riot of color—deep red hibiscus, purple passion flowers and large yellow waxy blooms in a setting of living green. The natives lay stretched on the ground, their senses of smell, vision and hearing fed to the uttermost. But the musicians with their soft, weird, notes were the magicians of the hour We all thought of the lotus eaters.

"In the afternoon they came unto a land,
In which it seemed always afternoon;
A land where all things always seemed the same!
There is sweet music here that softer falls
Than petals from blown roses on the grass,
Or night-dews on still waters between walls
Of shadowy granite, in a gleaming pass;
Music that gentler on the spirit lies,
Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes."

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS.

A short meeting of the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital was held last evening. President Davies in the chair. The committee of the month reported the general state of the hospital as being satisfactory, and made a number of recommendations, including one that fire escapes be put in position as soon as possible and that double windows be placed in the surgical department. The committee for October will attend to these matters.

The special committee appointed for the purpose reported that arrangements had been made with the authorities of the Maternity Home, whereby nurses so desiring may have a month's training at the home at a fee of $25. Miss Ethel M. Ferris will to-day present herself for a month's training. The medical council will be asked for advice as to how many cases a nurse should attend before passing an examination for a diploma

The following motion moved by Mr. A. Wilson and seconded by Mr. Crimp, was carried unanimously:

"That this board hereby expresses its sincere sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayward in the severe loss sustained by them in the death of their son, and request the secretary to convey the same to them."

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of 'nostrums.' It is here on its merits."

NANAIMO.

Nanaimo, Oct. 1.—His honor Judge Harrison rendered his decision yesterday in the case of the magistrate. His honor held that Magistrate Simpson had no jurisdiction to hold small debt court outside of the city limits.

Three unknown persons were drowned near Nanoose on the 19th instant. They were coming to Nanaimo.

The Nanaimo Rangers (Associated football) have reorganized. They will open the season in a match with the Wellington team on Saturday, 12th.

The foreign coal shipments for the past month show a large increase over the previous month. The New V. C. Co. shipped 17,233 tons, being 7007 tons more than for August. Wellington sent 20,264 and Union 18,179 tons.

Peter Smith and Fred Herman paid $23 each into the court yesterday, being the result of a fight on Saturday night. Both men showed signs of rough treatment.

REVELSTOKE.

Kootenay Mail.

Messrs. Jose and Nowell are at the Dunsegan to give it an investigation in behalf of a Seattle Syndicate, who are offering to make a deal with the owners. The mine is showing well, two assessments having been done on it this summer. If the property is not sold, Bain and Boyd will work it themselves next season.

J. D. McDonald, who discovered the Glengarry group two years ago, has spent the summer prospecting in the Lardeau and Cariboo creek districts. His last find this summer is the Rachael, a high grade gold proposition on Cariboo creek.

Mr. F. D. Nowell, the owner of the Great Northern, has been up to see the mine and expressed himself as well satisfied with the showing. Development work on the property is being rushed and a rawhide trail is being constructed to connect it with the Trout Lake wagon road. They will ship ore this winter.

The ranchers around the head of Arrow lake have been favored with immense crops of potatoes and vegetables, and they expect to find a good market in the mining camps of the Lardeau and Trout Lake districts. They are talking of forming a protective society to prevent outsiders shipping in garden truck this winter.

Mr. Wm. Pearse, Dominion superintendent of mines, whose headquarters are at Calgary, went east Thursday morning. Discussing Revelstoke townsite matters, he stated that all questions relating to land and lots between the Dominion and provincial governments have been settled, on the terms as recently published, and that they will be effective as soon as the provincial legislature meets and adopts some necessary confirmatory legislation.

R. H. Lee, surveyor, and party, returned yesterday from Canoe river. At the instigation of the provincial government Mr. Lee has been conducting an exploratory survey along the Canoe river, northward from its junction with the Columbia, with a view of obtaining data as to the adaptability of that part of the colutry for agricultural and timber purposes. He has been out since the first week in August. Canoe river is 100 miles from Revelstoke, and it was followed up for about 80 miles from its mouth. The valley is dry meadow, from one to four miles wide, and free of danger from high water. The soil is rich and well adapted for agriculture. The snowfall is much less than is the case further south, and the land can be cleared at small cost. Mr. Lee will prepare a report of his expedition for the government.

NELSON.

Nelson Miner

On Monday last, at a meeting of the directors of the Alamo Mining Company, held at the concentrator, Three Forks, a dividend of 7 1-2 per cent., amounting to $35,000 was declared. At the same time the proprietors of the Idaho, which is a private partnership, divided $4,500 among themselves. In April last they received $30,000. Very little ore has been shipped from the mine during the summer, which accounts for the disparity in the dividends. Work is now fully resumed and the output will soon be large. The Alamo is supplying the concentrator with sufficient ore to turn out 20 tons of concentrates a day.

NEW DENVER

The Ledge.

The Monitor is reported bonded to Tom Jefferson.

Ira Black has bought Mitchell's interest in the New Columbia on the north fork of Carpenter creek. Black will ship eight tons of ore from the Cordella.

Ore is being packed from the Howard Fraction on Springer creek to Slocan City. Seven men are working this property and developing it under difficulties that would make some throw up the business.

Large bodies of ore have recently been struck in the Reco and Ivanhoe properties.

The Roulette, on the north fork of Carpenter creek, will work this winter. Three men are working on the Jo Jo in the same district.

Dan Mann, the well known railway man, has purchased an interest in seven claims from his brother, Hugh Mann, and will work some of them this winter. They have already commenced to work the Carnation, a claim on Tributary creek.

Owners of government town lots in New Denver are undecided what to do about the payments. None of the properties are even worth the first payment, and the government should give each holder of a deed who has erected a building a release for the balance of the payments. This would encourage the pioneers of the country, and urge them to greater efforts in building up the district.

Ore is being packed from the Mountain Chief for shipment via Nakusp. Work has never ceased on this property for three years.

The concentrator at the Washington will be finished in 90 days.

J. L. Drumheller, of Spokane, has sued Messrs. Bolander, Van Dora and McClement for $10,000. He charges them with entering on the grounds of the Stevenson mineral claim and cutting timber. A defense has been put in and the case will be heard in the supreme court some time this fall. This case promises to be an interesting one as both sides claim to be able to prove their rights to the property by the mining records.

A MONTH OF DANGER!

October Weather Dreaded by Rheumatic Sufferers.

Sudden Changes in Temperature Bring Agonies and Suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound Should be Freely Used This Month

The Only Medicine That Cures Rheumatism and Sciatica.

We have just entered on the month of October, a time fraught with tremendous dangers to all rheumatic sufferers. It is terrible to contemplate the agonies that thousands will have to endure. The victims are many; they are old and young, rich and poor. Some wealthy sufferers will take themselves to climates with fewer dangerous changes of temperature; but the vast majority are obliged to face and endure the evils that must surely come, unless they seek the help of Paine's Celery Compound, that medicine that never fails in the most terrible cases of rheumatism.

In the complete banishment of rheumatism and sciatica, Paine's Celery Compound has more wonderful cures to its credit than can be shown by all other combined medicines.

It should be remembered that Paine's Celery Compound does not simply relieve for a few days or weeks; this wonderful medicine goes straight to the root of the trouble and takes away the seeds of disease forever. Medical men know well of its value in rheumatism, and endorse its use. It is therefore folly on your part to go on suffering when such a cure is within your reach. If you are a rheumatic sufferer, and wish a complete cure, see that you are not influenced to take something else, even if your dealer recommends it; your safety depends entirely on Paine's Celery Compound and its miraculous virtues.

Something for Everybody.

Anything that combines style with comfort is sure to be popular, and this is true of Fibre Chamois. It gives the necessary stylish stiffness to ladies' sleeves and skirts and when used in underskirts, jackets, capes or outing suits, provides as well an absolutely wind proof warmth. For children's wraps it is admirable because its uncrushable nature keeps them in shape, while its light weight prevents the garment from being a burden, though splendid warmth is provided. In men's clothing it takes the place of canvas or haircloth, giving body and stiffness at the same time it makes the coat or vest so warm that you can brave the elements and defy the fiercest winds in perfect comfort.

Reports as to the Condition of the I.O. O. F. From the Grand Officers.

Reports of the Grand Sire, Commander in Chief, Adjutant-General and Grand Treasurer, presented at the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., have been received. The treasurer's report shows that the assets of the Sovereign Grand Lodge on July 31 totalled $58,001.02. There was paid out during the year $62,000.83. The report of the Grand Secretary is a very full one. It gives an account of the business transacted by the Sovereign Grand Lodge and the condition of the order throughout the world. There was a net gain in the membership of lodges of 10,635, while the encampments showed a net loss of 1,772. Some lodges did not report. During 1894, 335 new lodges were organized and the net gain in membership was 14,362 sisters and 8,385 brothers. The increase in the membership of the Rebekah lodges in British Columbia was 33. The other reports contains much matter of interest to members of the order.

SINGULAR FIRES.

Strange Ways in Which They Have Been Accidentally Started.

In a machine shop a locomotive boiler was being repaired. The steam dome had to be removed, so as to allow a man to get inside the boiler, and about a pint of benzine had been applied to some of the interior bolts and screws, apparently for the purpose of loosening them, so that they could be removed. The men at work on the boiler went off to their dinner and on their return one of them got inside to remove the bolts, when a man standing outside handed him a light. The moment the light came in contact with the air from the boiler, slightly impregnated as this was with naptha vapor, a tremendous explosion occurred. The man outside who was handling the light was instantly killed, and another, who was standing on top of the boiler, was thrown to the ground and badly bruised; while the man inside was blown through the dome opening, fourteen inches in diameter and 30 feet upward, where he struck the iron roof truss, lodging there so firmly that he was pulled out by the travelling crane, but in such a condition that he died some hours afterward. It is well known that a mixture of a small quantity of naptha vapor with a large quantity of air may be explosive, but no attempt seems to have been made to determine the limit of explosive proportions.

In another case the feed pipe of a boiler, which was placed at the back, burst, allowing water to escape into the fire. The steam generated, blew open the furnace door and forced the flames out into the boiler room. The doors and windows and the ventilator in the room were set on fire, but the ever watchful automatic sprinklers opened and held the flames in check until two hydrant streams could be turned on. A somewhat similar accident took place in a mill where shavings were blown under the boiler for fuel. The shaving blower was stopped for a moment, causing a back draft in the boiler furnace, which sent flames through the furnace doors, setting fire to the shavings in the boiler room. Here, as before, the automatic sprinklers promptly opened, keeping the fire in check until a stream from the hose could be applied.

A singular fire was caused by the ignition of coal piled up against the outside of a boiler house. There were 32 inches of brickwork between the boiler setting, which was in contact with the wall, and the coal, but sufficient heat had passed through to set the coal on fire. Even where there is no extraneous heat bituminous coal will sometimes ignite spontaneously, as has been clearly demonstrated by the mill mutual companies, and last year three fires were due to this cause.

It is expected that the return contest with the San Francisco Chess club will be played at an early date. There has been some correspondence, and arrangements are under way. The proposal is exciting interest not only in the club but among outsiders who watched the last games keenly.

CITY SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

Globe Furniture Company Judgment Ordered Paid—Fire Drill.

There was a special meeting of the board of school trustees at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the office of Secretary Williams. All of the board except Trustee Saunders attended. A number of bills, including the Globe furniture company judgment, were ordered paid.

It was decided on motion of Trustee Marchant to have Mr. St. Clair, the gymnasium teacher, instruct the pupils of the city schools in the fire drill, to commence as soon as convenient.

It was also decided to arrange through the city council for the purchase of coal under the city tender, and to charge the same to the school accounts.

A letter was received from Mr. Merrifield complaining that his son had received undue corporal punishment from one of the teachers in the Central School. It was referred to Principal Netherby for report.

On motion of Trustee Lewis, seconded by Trustee Glover, a vote of condolence to the chairman for his late bereavement was passed. All of the board added a few kind words to it and Mr. Hayward replied feelingly for the kind sympathy expressed.

—For a pain in the chest a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of the pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, will afford prompt relief. This is especially valuable in cases where the pain is caused by a cold and there is a tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by all druggists. Langley & Co., wholesale agents, Victoria and Vancouver.
